

MTA Exam

Lesson Time: 3 Hours

This course helps prepare you to take the Microsoft MTA 98-375 exam, HTML5 Application Development Fundamentals. Adding the MTA exam certification to your resume is a great way to show you've mastered core concepts and skills.

Exam Details:

<https://www.microsoft.com/en-us/learning/exam-98-375.aspx>

Study Guide, free eBook, and additional study materials.

You'll find the official Microsoft study material in the course files section of the course.

How to take the exam

You are eligible to take the exam at no cost to you on your first attempt, using a voucher provided by the school. Subsequent retake attempts are not covered by your school's program. Once you've reviewed your voucher, you must contact a Pearsonvue test center to schedule the exam.

When to take the exam

We recommend you schedule it at the end after completing all other courses in the program. Toward the end of your program, representatives from the school will be in contact with you in regards to providing the free voucher for taking the exam. You may take your exam anytime, up to 1 year, after being provided the school voucher.

How to study for the exam

We strongly encourage you dedicating at minimum 30 days of reviewing the official microsoft study material prior to sitting for the exam. Keep in mind that this course can not prepare you for every possible exam topic, so it's critical to review the Microsoft study material.

Take the remainder of the class time to review the exam details, download the Study guide and eBook and begin looking through them.